

Ed Bogle

Mr. Bogle has more than 30 years of strategic and marketing consulting experience, including several years as a senior practice leader at Arthur Young's (Ernst & Young's) Southwest Strategic Management Consulting Practice. There he worked extensively with the Entrepreneurial Services Group to connect human performance and business strategy.

He has worked with and served as a coach to two of Inc. Magazine's Entrepreneur of the Year regional winners and has worked with three companies in Inc. Magazine's 100 Fastest-Growing Companies in the United States. His clients range from start-ups and emerging entities to Global 50 enterprises. This work includes breakthrough thinking for high-growth strategies, turnarounds, acquisitions and mergers, and capital formation. In recent years he has worked extensively in the "clean, green and sustainable" space and coached companies on social entrepreneurship.